There is nothing out of the common from the Cincinnati Convention.

A dispatch from New York says a deputy coroner who had taken the body of an infant to the morgue, thought he detected life in the body, and resorting to artificial respiration brought the little one to consciousness. It was taken to the public hospital, attentively cared for, and is now doing well.

The news from Cincinnati brings the intelligence that the Democrats are more at sea than ever. Tammany received a slap at the hands of the Committee on Credentials, and this puts John Kelly on the war path. Fiden seems to have been dropped, and the New York delegation leads off for Payne, of Ohio, but this is considered only a test for Fiden. Ohio indignantly protests against any other man than Tammam. The indications point to a stormy session of the Convention and a good deal of wrangling.

Mr. Tilden is a remarkable letter writer. His letter of dedication, which was written with a good deal of skill and some study, can be taken to mean most anything. Read it over once, and it seems to be a declaration; read it again, and you find that it is a bid for a boom for the nomination. What construction the Cincinnati Convention will place upon it, is yet to be seen. They may disappoint the old fox, take him at his word, lay the sage on himself, and thus break the twist he has held on the party.

Chili is a good place for a Yankee peddler to emigrate to. There is a ready demand for his wares at enormous prices. Business is booming in that country, men are rich, and want is better and generous and liberal. Private residences are being built which will cost about a quarter of a million. Luxuries are in great demand. A beaver hat costs $15, and a Panama $250. A barber charges $1.50 for cutting hair. Six dollars a day will buy a poor room at a wretched hotel, and $3 will pay for a platoon of poor wine. A common wax doll brings $80, and an ordinary pair of boots will fetch $30. Peddlers and speculators should hasten to Chili.

The reader who is curious to obtain an inside view of Prince Bismarck's character as the genius of Statecraft, will find much to interest him in a paper contributed to the North American Review for July, by the great Chancellor's Boswell, Moritz Busch, entitled "Bismarck as a Friend of America and as a Statesman." Other articles in the same number of the Review are "Canada and the United States," by Prof. Goldwin Smith; "The Exodus of Israel," by President S. C. Bartlett; "a defense of the Pentateuchal account in the light of modern research;" "The English House of Lords," by J. E. Thorold Rogers, M. H.; "The Ethics of Sex," by Miss M. A. Hardaker; "a calm, philosophical study of the woman question;" "The Panama Canal," by Count de Lesseps; and "Profligacy in Fiction," by A. K. Fiske. The

CINCINNATI.

The Democratic Convention—The Organization and Appointment of Committees.

THE SITUATION IN THE MORNING.
CINCINNATI, June 22.—There is no change in the Presidential situation since the close of the press report last night. New men have been more freely canvassed, among them General Don Carlos Buell, of Kentucky. The drifting around continues, the one requisite being the man who will get the most votes in New York, Connecticut, and New Jersey, and who will at the same time be acceptable to Indiana.

There are some who think that Hugh J. Jewett would be the man, but more who believe in the strength of Senator McDonald, of Indiana. His personal popularity in his own State is spoken of, while it is thought his financial record would be acceptable in New York. It is not impossible that an effort will be made to bring Tilden to the front again, if the movement in Illinois and Wisconsin for Seymour fails to prove strong in his friends here. It is thought the Tammany men, seconded by Tammany, will be able to prevent Payne from receiving the nomination. It still seems probable that Bayard will largely lead on the first ballot.

THE MAIDEN BOO LEGEND.

A New Version of an Old Story—The Critics Rebuked for Interrupting a Yarn.

From the Lake City, Minn., Leader.
"Want to hear the story of Maiden Rock?" queried Captain Murray of a party of tourists on the upper deck of the Peppin. "Well, it's about this way. Wenona was the beautiful daughter of a Sioux chief. She lived in this valley under the brow of Maiden Rock, with her father's tribe. She had fallen in love with a young hunter of the tribe, and had promised to become his bride. Her father had other plans, however; he had mapped out an alliance with the family of an influential warrior of a neighboring tribe. He dropped the young hunter from the camp upon threats of death, and proceeded to send for his rival. But Wenona, with her woman's ingenuity, had taken steps to prevent this unnatural match. Early one morning she slipped away from her family and ascended to the cliff, where she appeared to the astonished gaze of her tribe, standing on a flat rock which overhung the valley, four hundred feet above the rocky shore of the lake. She was singing her death song and was about to throw herself from the rock in despair. They rushed to the top, but before they could save her she had flung herself over the edge.

The trees grew a great deal nearer the rock than they do now. She sailed down through the air until she reached the tree tops. Then, miraculously, she bounded from one to another until she touched the ground safe and unharmed. Before the tribe could descend from their lofty position, she was half way across the lake on the ice, running with surprising swiftness. She detached her pursuers and swept all that night in the Frontenac valley, where she refreshed herself with strawberries and ice cream."

"But," interrupted an hypercritical tourist, "how did she get the strawberries and cream—and in winter, too?"

The captain withered him with a single glance, and continued: "The next night she paddled across the lake in her canoe."

"There you go again," broke in a tourist, "how about canoe in winter?"

"Continued it," Yoking man," indignantly replied the captain, "I'm not telling a canoe story."

and the demand is good, almost every cargo on arrival being sold at once, while at the yards the shipments during the past week has been great, and prices very firm.

An advance is anticipated ere long on common grades.

The Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway

Company, gave a mortgage on all their property last Thursday for $4,000,000,

payable in 50 years, at 7 per cent per annum, to H. W. Smith and W. F. Whitehouse, trustees. Filed for record, June 17th.

Ninety-eight building permits were issued last week. A number of business blocks will be erected the present summer and fall. Building material is low now, comparatively, and capitalists are anxious to commence operations at once.

Real estate has declined in price during the past two months, in sympathy with other things; but the general opinion is,

that it will only be temporary, and an advance will take place before long again.

The city finances have not been in so healthy a condition for some time as they are now, over $2,000,000 being in the treasury to-day. Our able and worthy Comptroller, T. T. Garney, is being duly credited for helping to bring about this state of affairs. The entire indebtedness and maturing obligations, are being taken care of in a very judicious and economical manner.

Woman's Nerve.

A tall lady with a saturnine countenance came into the Chronicle office the other day, and demanded of one of the reporters if Virginia offered a good field for a series of dozen lectures on women's sufrage. "I don't think the Comstockers

have thought much about female sufrage,"

replied the reporter frankly.

"Don't say female," said the tall lady

sharply. "Why not?" asked the reporter,

in innocent surprise. "Because sir, a term

that is used to describe sex in animals should not be applied to women,"

the reporter admitted, in great humiliation, that the point was well taken, and looked up with some alarm at the severe countenance of the lady, who was a head taller than himself, and manifestly able to thrash him in the interest of progress, if so disposed. The stern countenance softened

somewhat at the signs of confessed inferiority, however, and the lady continued: "The cause of woman is the cause of humanity. The cause of humanity embraces all progress.

Why then should the people of Virginia

be so indifferent to woman?" "They're not," cried the small reporter, hastily; "far from it. Woman is the hope of our country. Everything she wants she gets, and no one is a hundred feet to do a lick of work."

"More toys," said the tall one, with deep scorn. "Playthings for an idle hour. You ought to be a woman with silks and gauds,

and slink her soul into insignificance by cir-cumscribing her sphere and allowing her

no mission in life." "Well," admitted the small reporter, "that's about the way we look at it up here, that's a fact. Women haven't got the nerve to rattle for themselves like men." "No-er-ve!" She uttered

this word in such a tone that the small reporter half rose from his chair.

"Nerve! What is nerve?" he asked, and that you do not think I am capable of."

"No offense, madame, no offense. I meant nothing personal, I can assure you."

"Am I not stronger than you?" she demanded, scornfully. "Am I not gilded with as great a brain? Why do you despise me?" "We can bear more pain, and therefore your superiors in courage." The small reporter was gazing fixedly into a dark corner of the room, and made no answer. "Nerve, faded!" continued the tall lady, "why women have indefinitely more nerve than men. Only you may say I saw a woman." "That's the suggestion I ever saw in the office,"

said the small reporter, staring intently at the corner. The scream that rent the air brought in all the printers and several customers from the street. When they arrive, the tall one was standing on a chair

with one hand covering her eyes and the other convulsively clutching her skirts.

As she gathered them closely around her,

The small reporter wisely took advantage of the crowd to slip out of town, and he telegraphed back from Gold Hill that he was going down to Carson to work up a big item.—Virginia City [Nebraska] Chron-

CHICAGO LETTER.

Business of the Week—Cash and

Credit—Temperature Varieties—

Disease and Death—Sunday School

Centennial—General Gossip.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Business in all departments was good last week. The shipments of grain, for two days, far exceeded

the receipts. Hardware merchants, especially those in the wholesale trade, are doing well, notwithstanding the boom and recent fall in prices. Nails at $3.00 rate are in good demand, as the chances are that prices will go up slightly before long.

Strangers traveling through the city are surprised at the great numbers of retail stores on every business street, and are amazed how they all live, but they don't.

They come to Chicago, start business, lose their money, and are replaced by others in Kaleidoscope order. Many are helped out by members of their families who work down town,

and help pay necessary expenses, which the store cannot do. Of course there are large retail stores, who make money, but they have capital, and are cash buyers and sell.

The favorite maxim in Chicago is "If God we trust, all others cash." Chicago

does a cash business, and it is very easy to see why. Taking it all in all, the cash system is the best all around. Our newspapers adopted the cash basis on starting, and it enables them to make good is it a puzzle to know where to

BRIEFLETS.

—Seek the shade.
—All Souls festival to-night.
—Dancer and cream at the All Souls festival this evening.
—Clark's hay press building is being improved by a coat of paint.

—The annual festival of the All Souls church is booked for to-night.
—It's about time for burglars. Don't get careless about the bolts and bars.
—The wear and tear now don't come so much on the coat sleeves as on the shirt sleeves.

—Young and old are invited to join in the merry-making at All Souls, from 7 to 12 p. m.

—Fred Dickerman is taking a week's rest from postoffice work, and is making headquarters at Ripon.

—Rev. Mr. Sanderson expects to go East in the course of a week. Mr. Sanderson is thinking of going with him.

—Mrs. Louis R. Fry, of St. Louis, and Mrs. Harleigh W. Sheldon of New York, are in the city, visiting Mrs. Ogden H. Feibers.

—William Canary returned from Wau-pun this morning, having served this time, and having been allowed the usual cut-down for good behavior.

—Mrs. Randall, the old lady who suffered a fracture of the thigh bone Monday, is getting along reasonably well considering her age and feebleness.

—The contract for laying the pipes, and putting in the fountain in the Court House park has been let to George Prichard. The work has been put in good hands.

—Will Gaid, of Chicago, has been in the city visiting his father, Z. Gaid, Esq. His arm which was broken by his being thrown from a freight car, is getting along well.

—Emmett Addy arrived from Chicago last evening, and will probably spend a month here with his family. He has worked up a good trade on the road, and deserves a rest.

—By the kindness of Dr. Butler and his attorneys, Bennett & Sale, Father McGinnity has made arrangements to open St. Patrick's church for the coming three Sundays, and will be at the church on Saturday to hear confessions.

—To-morrow fifteen ladies expect by means of one of Jackman's carryalls to visit Mrs. Isaac Rogers, of Beloit. There is evidently now not so much need of a woman's rights plank in the platform. It's the men that have to stay at home this time.

—George Terry, of La Prairie, was yesterday afternoon found guilty of assault upon F. B. Child, the case being heard before Justice Brooks, who fined him $1 and costs, amounting in all to $14, and it wasn't much of an assault either. It's rather an expensive luxury.

—Mr. Robert Taylor was in the city to-day and renewed his annual subscription for the Weekly Gazette for the thirty-fourth time. Mr. Taylor came to this State in 1843, and is the oldest settler in Spring Valley, this county, and still lives upon the same farm, on which he first settled.

—The Chicago mail again missed connection this morning. We haven't heard of any washout since yesterday morning, but as the mail came all right then, and failed to come all right this morning, there must have been another flood somewhere. But what can't be helped must be borne good-naturedly.

—The Beloit Outlook in speaking of Miss Kunkle's recent readings in that city says: "Miss Kunkle's style of elocution marks her as a thorough student and master of the art. Her voice is clear and fine in tone, and shows splendid skill in modulation. Her manner was faultlessly natural and womanly."

—Rev. F. A. Marsh, of Beloit, was in the city to-day. He dined with Rev. F. L. Chapell, and both gentlemen left on the 1:30 train for Beaver Dam, to attend the meeting of the Board of the Baptist State Convention, and to make arrangements for the annual meeting of the Convention in this city next autumn.

—This morning there was a matrimonial event at the Speake house, which interested many in this city, where the aged but happy bridegroom is well known—Merritt Case, who linked his destinies with Mrs. Cumford Maria Wells, of Chicago. Rev. Mr. Sewell performed the ceremony, and the happy couple took the afternoon train for Chicago.

—Joel Henry Wells was in the city yesterday afternoon, arranging to lecture here at an early date. Mr. Wells was formerly a resident of Allen's Grove, and late of Chicago. About two years ago he was placed in the Egin Asylum for the insane, from which he escaped a short time ago. He now proposes to tell some of the inner workings of some of the charitable institutions of the country.

—Mr. Smith, a grandson of Rev. S. C. Thomas, has been in the city for a day or two and this afternoon started for the West. This is the first visit to Wisconsin since sixteen years ago, when he left Lawrence University, which he was then attending, and went out with the Fortieth regiment.

He has since then been in the oil regions of Pennsylvania, and is full of interesting talk concerning the way oil is handled, and with incidents of the late big fires which raged there.

—Attorney Street, of Waukeeba, was in the city to-day. He has been looking over Kansas, with a view of fixing upon some place to settle down, but concluded it was better to come back to Wisconsin and locate in some city here, perhaps Janesville. His brother George Street, who was the successful competitor in the examination for appointment to the naval school at Annapolis, has shown up well this year, the examinations showing him to stand next to the head, which considering the number and nature of his classmates, is high honor.

—Wyer ought to have a wider sidewalk in front of his wine house, or else have less trade, for when he is getting in a fresh supply, and when he is shipping out the empty kegs and bottles, it just about stops travel by his place. Yesterday afternoon he had forty kegs and forty cases in front of his place. This weather is good for Wyler, for all the thirsty souls seem to crowd thither to fill up, and all the sickly ones take his beer for medicine. We ain't very good judges of beer. Editors seldom are, but if what folks say is true, Best's beer is named just right. At any rate Wyler gets rid of two carloads a week of beer in bottles and kegs, and then has to telegraph for more when the thermometer runs up.

—Miss Ella Peterson returned to-day from Cincinnati, where she has been furthering her musical culture.

Universally acknowledged the best, Astor House, New York.

PROTECT THE PARK.

The general desire of the public to have the Court House park thrown open to all has been met, the fences have been taken away, the grass mowed, and the park made attractive and pleasant, and free for all to use for the purposes of a park. It seems that in a community of such enterprise and intelligence as Janesville, there would be no need of keeping a policeman stationed there all of the time to see that the public does not abuse those privileges, but it seems as if it would be necessary unless the practices of some cease. Some of the young folk, who delight in horseback riding, have reined their horses into the park, and ride along the walks, cutting them up, and undoing much of the work already done. Some of our citizens have driven their carriages right across the grass, the wheels cutting the sod. The Chairman of the Park Committee says these things ought not to be, and proposes to use what power there is in the law to stop these practices. So a fair warning is given all concerned not to abuse the privileges offered by the opening of the park. It seems strange that such a warning is needed, but it seems to be.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The contractors on the road to Beloit are building shanties this side of Beloit for the accommodation of the gangs, and making other preparations for entering upon the work of construction.

One gang was sent down this morning to commence work between here and Alton on the new road to Beloit.

The Northwestern folk will soon be laying the rails on a part at least of the new road to Alton. Twelve carloads of ties arrived here this morning and will be scattered at once.

A gang of about eight men who have been building fences near here along the regular line of the Northwestern road have struck, not being satisfied with $1.25 a day, and demanding $1.50. There was no riot connected with the strike.

WISCONSIN PATENTS.

The following patents were issued from the United States Patent Office to citizens of Wisconsin, for the week ending June 15th, 1899, reported for the Gazette, by S. A. Hudson, Solicitor of Patents, Lap-plin's block, Janesville, Wisconsin:

Lawn mower attachment—Cyrus G. Baldwin, Ripon.
Bee hive—Albert Barnhart, Milton.
Ornamental harness buckles—Warren Collins and Charles F. Penniman, Janesville.

Combined ash pan and sifter—Simon Funk, Milwaukee.
Ferrule for cant hooks—Albert Sanford, Oshkosh.

BIDS ON A RESERVOIR.

It has been decided to build a reservoir of the capacity of 2,000 barrels, as a part of the water works system at the Court House park. This reservoir is to be about two-thirds under ground and one-third above, and those having the same in charge desire to receive bids for building it. Contractors desiring to make proposals on the work can learn of specifications, etc., by calling upon either G. W. Hawes or C. B. Conrad.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY FARMER & EVANSON DRUGGISTS.
The thermometer at 6 o'clock last evening stood at 90 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m., to-day at 71 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 78 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 91 degrees above. Clear.

The indications to-day are for the upper lake region, clear or partly cloudy weather, except in northern portions, possibly occasional rains, winds mostly southwesterly, nearly stationary temperature and barometer.

DIED OF HER INJURIES.

Isaac McCauley's little three-year-old daughter, who was so severely scalded last Monday, by pulling over upon herself a boilerful of hot water, died last evening from the effects of her injuries. She was a bright, winsome child, and the suddenness and peculiar nature of her death causes the blow to the family to be an unusually heavy and sad one.

CITY NOTICES.

Persons under the operation of Fello's Hypophosphites should examine their blood under the microscope from time to time, and mark the increase of red and active particles and diminution of the white or dead ones; these observations are interesting and instructive.

It Costs Less.

To use SOZODONT than any other beautifier. A few drops only are needed, and when regularly applied to the teeth it is not only beautifying, but healthful. Much other adorning is dangerous, but this never is. In the sick room or on the toilet, it is equally welcome.

By using SPALDING'S GLUE on the first appearance of a defect in the furniture, it will prove itself to be the most economical thing about the house. jeltedowdw

Mothers! Mothers! Mothers!
Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold every where. 25 cents a bottle.

Restored to Complete Health.

BROOKS, Mo. Sept. 7, 1870.
DEAR SIR—From early youth I was in feeble health, troubled with humor in my blood, weakness and debility of the system generally; was unable to labor much, and only at some slight business, and then only with great caution. Seven years ago, the past Spring, I had a severe attack of Diphtheria, which left my limbs paralyzed and useless, so I was unable to walk or even sit up. Noticing the advertisement of PARVIAN SYRUP, I concluded to give it a trial, and to my great joy soon found my health improving. I continued the use of the SYRUP until three bottles had been used, and was restored to complete health, and hold it in high estimation. I cannot speak too highly in its praise. I have several times recommended it in cases very similar to my own with the same good results. Yours truly, CHARLES S. PEARCY.

Sold by dealers generally. Sold in Janesville by Prentice & Evanson. jeltedowdw
